

Students Sent Home as Exclusive Esopus School Closes

By JON POWERS

ESOPUS

The exclusive McLaren School in Esopus has been closed; most of its 86 students sent home; and its property seized because it allegedly owes more than $100,000 in back taxes to the Internal Revenue Service.

Headmaster Lewis McLaren has disappeared. Spokesmen for the New York State Education Department and the IRS said today they don't know where he is. Counselors at the private tutorial school in Esopus told The Freeman that McLaren left two weeks ago. They said they don't know where he is; when he'll return, or if he'll return.

It was reported that all property owned by the McLaren School will be sold at a public auction next week, unless McLaren retains the property by paying back taxes.

The school's troubles began late last week when an investigation by the State Education Department reportedly uncovered evidence that the school was operating illegally. According to Dr. John Jehu, an associate counsel for the Commissioner of Education, "McLaren had no right to run the school in the first place under the incorporation laws of New York State."

"When McLaren applied for incorporation papers," said Jehu, he said the school would be a tutorial daytime facility. But many of the students have boarded there straight through from September to June. We didn't know that, and we didn't find out until last week."

In a telephone interview with The Freeman, Jehu also said that 30 students who had attended the McLaren School under grants provided by the New Jersey Social Services Department had done so illegally because the required contract between the New Jersey and New York State Social Services Departments had never been signed.

As a result, said Jehu, those students will probably lose any credits they received while attending the McLaren School.

New Jersey paid approximately $4,000 in tuition for each of the 30 students it sent to the McLaren School.

Tuition for a private student ranged as high as $7,000 a year. Jehu also noted that the New York State Department of Social Services also paid for the education of 30 students at the Esopus school.

McLaren School has received approximately $40,000 in grants from New York State this year. On Friday, all state contracts with the school were canceled.

Jehu added that the McLaren School never received a license to operate from the Social Services Department. He also said the school's use of one of the former buildings of the Wiltwyck School for Boys was illegal because the Social Services Department had condemned the building as "unsafe."

Special

The state's investigation of the McLaren School prompted by an IRS revelation that McLaren owed $100,000 in back taxes, as sole officer of the school.

But Jehu emphasized that the state did not close the school. He said McLaren, the school's only officer, disappeared two weeks ago, leaving no one to pay for food for the students. Jehu said he spoke with counselors at the school, and when told that there was no food left, recommended that they send the students home. "McLaren closed the school when he took off," said Jehu, "there wasn't anyone left to sign the checks. There wasn't even anyone left to put the place in bankruptcy."

Most of the students left for home on Friday. On Monday and Tuesday, IRS agents from Kingston went to the school and seized its property, including school buses, beds, mattresses and supplies.

Counselors at the McLaren School, however, disagree strongly with the state's interpretation of events that led to the closing of the facility. The Freeman spoke with ten different counselors this week, and all charged that the state was "covering up" its role in the school's closing.

The counselors, most in their early 20's, told The Freeman that the school's kitchen "is full of food," and that there was enough to feed all the students. They said the kitchen has since been padlocked by the IRS "so we couldn't feed the kids even if we had to."

They also took exception to statements that the school was operating illegally. They said state officials knew all along that students were boarded at the school and that New Jersey welfare students were attending classes there.

Counselors were also emphatic in their praise for the school's progress in training emotionally disturbed students and "slow learners." They said they have received testimonials from a number of parents who maintain their children have received an "excellent" education at the McLaren School.

About half of the school's 36 counselors have received permission to stay temporarily at the school, but they have no place to sleep because the IRS has seized the beds. Several students also remain at the school; one has no place else to go because his parents are reportedly vacationing in Iran.

Efforts are being made to place the 86 students in other schools for the remainder of the year. One student, a senior, said he was told by his public school in New York City that he can be re-admitted as a ninth grader. He has lost three years of credit because of the McLaren school's illegal status. He had been at the school since it opened in 1969.

"It's really a pitiful operation," said Jehu. He said the entire matter has been turned over to the Attorney General's Office for investigation.

KINGSTON

Incensed that the new state imposed redistricting has wrought havoc on Ulster County, splitting it into two Senate, two Assembly and three Congressional districts, four Saugerties legislators Thursday night asked the County Board to convey its displeasure to the state.

Feeling that even though the redistricting is an accomplished fact, the four called for and got the unanimous passage of a resolution to be used as a vehicle for informing the state of the county's extreme disappointment with the reapportionment plan.

The measure was introduced by C. Freeman Lasher (R-Dist. 1), Charles Scala (R-Dist. 1), Richard Thornton (D-Dist. 1) and Majority Leader Clifford Snyder (R-Dist. 1).

Joining in the denunciation of the redistricting was Minority Leader Dr. Gerald P. Gorman (D-City), who said that the state should know "how very unhappy Ulster County is with this terrible plan."

The County Board, meeting in the Legislative Chambers of the County Office Building, also agreed to the leasing of the Ulster County Tumor Clinic to the Kingston Hospital.

It was approved by 29 members of the board with Dr. Gorman opposing the move and Clarence Raichle (R-City), abstain-ing. Two members were absent.

Dr. Gorman and Raichle have steadfastly maintained that the City of Kingston Laboratory also be given consideration in any leasing arrangements but Dr. Gorman expressed pleasure with the "reapport" now existing concerning possible future leasing of additional space to the Lab.

The local law, which allows the leasing of portions of the clinic building to the hospital, also provides for equipment and furnishings without public advertisement or bid.

Another resolution calling for an increase of one dollar per day for jurors for a total remuneration of $9.50 per day went down to defeat by a vote of 22-9. The sponsors, Lewis C. Kirschner (D-Dist. 7) and James J. Carroll (D-City) called for the raise in accordance with the increased cost of living.

Majority Leader Clifford Snyder (R-Dist. 1) told of an increase granted to jurors last year and said that in view of the present budget increases, the proposal was "unjustifiable."

See editorial on Page 6.

Legislator Lester C. Elmendorf (R-Dist. 2) who was the leading proponent of the new automatic parking device system in the Ulster County Court House parking lot, called the resolution "nothing more than an attempt to circumvent the defeat of a resolution last month calling for free parking for grand and trial jurors."

"If we permit free parking for jurors," he suggested, "we are going to have to do it for every other group that comes along that is connected with the county."

Exchanges of committee assignments between various members of the Legislature, suggested by Alex J. Nirenberg, (D-Dist. 10) also met with defeat by a vote of 29-2.

Charles Scala (R-Dist. 1) advised that the chairman of the Legislature, who has been making the committee assignments, knows members and their qualifications best and is therefore equipped to appoint them.

Dr. Gorman suggested that in the future, the majority and minority leader be consulted on appointments. Nirenberg claimed that each legislator knows best what he is best suited for.

The chairman, Peter J. Savago, told of having instituted a system of legislative questionnaires in order to "put people on committees where they belong." He said that if he allowed everyone to pick their own assignments he would have too many on some committees and none at all on others.

He said he recently had 17 requests for the Bridge and Highway Committee, 16 for the Social Services Committee and only one or two for the Commissioner of Elections Committee.

The welfare situation in the county came up for considerable comment when Douglas V. Dye (R-Dist. 2) offered a resolution calling for reinstatement of a clause in the state social services law which would make parents legally and financially obligated for adult children and make adult children legally and financially obligated to parents.

The measure was approved 26 to 5 with five out of nine Democrats present voting against the proposal. The resolution will be forwarded to the state for consideration.

Dr. Gorman asked that more information on the subject be secured from the State Legislature. Louis M. Klein (D-Dist. 7) agreed with the intent of the resolution but called it too "far-reaching" and William West (R-Dist. 12) voted for it because it is a means of "reestablishing a pattern of family responsibility."

A proposal to request support of the constitutional amendment permitting legislation by the petition method as proposed by Assemblyman H. Clark Bell was successful with a vote of 25-6 approving it. It was filed by Nirenberg.

Another measure calling for a study of a unit pricing system for consumer protection, proposed by Klein also met with success. Klein said that the system is intended as a labeling device which would price products according to content rather than size alone.

POLICE CHECK ARMORED TRUCK

$836,300 Truck Robbery ...Duplicate Key Possible

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) —

Police today said there was a "strong possibility" that two men who took $836,300 from an unattended armored truck Thursday used a duplicate key to get into the vehicle.

Detectives said the mid-day theft was accomplished in the space of four minutes while the driver and guard of the truck were inside a nearby building.

When the pair returned to their truck, they drove a block before realizing that six bags of cash were missing from their cargo.

Police said they had interrogated the truck driver, Les Parker, his partner Harry Willis, and witnesses to reconstruct the theft.

Officers said Parker and Willis were "positive" the doors of the parked Doyle Armored Service truck were locked when they left it to take four bags of money into Eastman Kodak Co.'s Hawkeye plant.

Other witnesses, according to police, saw a blue or green passenger car marked "Doyle Courier" pull up to the truck after Parker and Willis left it, open a side door of the truck, transfer the money to the car, and drive off.

"Someone had to have another key," Det. Capt. James J. Cavoti theorized, noting there was "no evidence of a forced entry."

Doyle's vice president, Timothy A. Doyle said the locks on its vehicles had been changed a month ago—a standard procedure whenever an employee left the firm.

Doyle officials added it was the first loss the firm had suffered in its 42-year history.

According to John A. Doyle, company president, two-man crews usually do not leave a truck unattended. But police quoted Parker and Willis saying they were both instructed to deliver payroll money at the Hawkeye building.

The lettering "Doyle Courier" on the getaway car, detectives said, was an apparent ruse to avoid suspicion.

First police reports of the theft mentioned four thieves, but further investigation indicated there were only two, officers said.

The estimate of the amount of money taken also was revised as the day wore on.

The first police report mentioned a figure of $800,000. This was later cut to $456,000, raised again to $776,000, and finally to $836,300.

Doyle officials late Thursday estimated the loss at somewhere above $700,000.

The missing cash consisted of $1 to $100 bills picked up at the main office of Lincoln Rochester Bank.

The Doyle service said the loss was "fully insured."

President Linked to Kleindienst Controversy

Mitchell Denies Nixon's Involvement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Attorney General John N. Mitchell has denied a "totally false and without foundation" new intimation that President Nixon was involved in the government's decision to drop an antitrust suit against International Telephone & Telegraph (ITT).

Mitchell, called to testify before the Senate Judiciary Committee today, issued his most blunt denial on the controversy to date after the President's name was linked to the controversy Thursday for the first time.

Brit Hume, an associate of columnist Jack Anderson, who first wrote about the controversy, told the committee Thursday that ITT lobbyist Dita Beard quoted Mitchell as telling her that Nixon had ordered him to "make a reasonable settlement" of the ITT case.

Hume also said Mrs. Beard, now recuperating from a heart ailment in a Denver hospital, said she and Mitchell had reached a "politician's agreement" on the settlement at a Kentucky Derby party last year in Frankfort, Ky.

The mention of Nixon's name shocked the committee. It was the first time his name had been mentioned in connection with the case.

Mitchell issued the following statement denying Hume's testimony: "The testimony attributing statements to me involving the President is totally false and without foundation. I categorically deny that I ever had any such conversation or that I ever made any such statement anywhere or at any time. The President has never, repeat never, made any request to me directly or indirectly concerning the settlement of the ITT case and I took no part in that settlement."

The judiciary panel is investigating whether there was any link between the Justice Department's decision to drop an antitrust action against the conglomerate and ITT's reported promise to subsidize the GOP National Convention this summer with a $400,000 contribution.

The Justice Department did settle the case out of court, and ITT was permitted to hold on to Hartford Fire Insurance Co., as it desired.

Republican National Chairman Robert Dole, meanwhile, said he had uncovered "truly improper activities" involving the Democratic National Convention involving vast sums of money improperly received from big business and involving activities "which may well be in violation of the law."

He called for public hearings on Democratic convention financing.

The index stayed about dead center during the 90-day wage-price freeze, from Aug. 15 to Nov. 14, then spurted sharply when controls were eased.

Wholesale Prices... Sharp Rise Recorded

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices rose 0.7 per cent in February, the Labor Department reported today, with soaring food prices mostly to blame.

The wholesale price index, seasonally adjusted, was up sharply from the 0.4 per cent adjusted gain in January, indicating that a widely predicted post-freeze price "bulge" was not yet over.

Without seasonal adjustments, the February gain was even larger—0.9 per cent. In January, the unadjusted rise was 0.8 per cent.

Prices for farm products and processed foods and feeds leaped by a seasonally adjusted 1.8 per cent after rising only 0.2 per cent the previous month. The bulk of those items, however, are not covered by price controls.

Food prices rose 1.9 per cent in February after dropping 0.1

per cent in January. Higher meat prices was the chief cause of the February increase, the department said.

Industrial prices, considered the best measure of inflationary pressures by many economists, were up 0.4 per cent in February, equaling the January increase.

The index stayed about dead center during the 90-day wage-price freeze, from Aug. 15 to Nov. 14, then spurted sharply when controls were eased.

TOO HEAVY FOR HIS WRIST—Harry Giles has this problem . . . he keeps losing his wristwatch. So now he's taken to telling time by way of a sundial, which he keeps stationed near his post at Mary's Avenue and Andrew Street, where he is a school crossing guard. Giles has yet to lose the sundial and, besides, he claims he can tell time to the quarter hour just by glancing at the device . . . as long as the sun is shining. (Freeman photo by Kruth)

County Murder Trial...Jury Begins Deliberations

By WALTER S. CLARK

A County Court jury began deliberations today on the testimony and evidence submitted at the murder trial of 21-year-old Peter John Fogarty of Saugerties, who is accused of the fatal rifle shooting of a 26-year-old man at the home of the defendant's sister in Saxton on March 25, 1971.

Both sides rested their cases Thursday afternoon before Judge Raymond J. Mino adjourned court until 10 a. m. today.

The defendant is charged with shooting William Conley of Route 1, Box 301, Saugerties in the head as he was watching television at the home of Walter and Arlene Dill on Route 28A in Saxton. Mrs. Dill is the defendant's sister.

Miss Ellen G. Donovan, assistant district attorney rested the prosecution's case after court reconvened at 1:35 p. m. G. Thomas Rea Jr., counsel for Fogarty completed the defense case before 3:30 p. m.

Through witnesses the defense sought to show that Fogarty was not sane at the time of the fatal shooting and that he did not understand the nature of the crime.

State Trooper A. J. Scarselli, who took Fogarty in custody following the shooting, testified against the defendant. He said that he and the accused man were in a police car at the murder scene and he informed Fogarty of his rights to have counsel before he discussed the incident. The witness testified the defendant didn't want a lawyer and that he talked about the shooting.

Scarselli quoted the defendant as saying, "I shot him because they were going to take my insurance money." The witness said he asked "who are they?" and Fogarty replied, "my sister and Bill (Conley)." The trooper also quoted the defendant as saying "I put an end to it tonight."

The witness quoted Fogarty as saying after the incident, "I was going to kill myself but I didn't have the guts."

Under cross-examination, Scarselli testified that Fogarty also said to him while in the police car outside the Dill home, "Oh, my God, I didn't want to kill anybody."

Dr. Emeline Hayward, a prosecution witness, testified about examinations she made of Fogarty's mental condition. Her finding, she said, was that there was no evidence of mental disease. About a month later, Fogarty underwent another examination, after which her finding was that the defendant was in a state of paranoid schizophrenia, (which commonly displays hallucinations in marked behavioral deterioration). The witness also said with reasonable certainty that in her opinion the defendant knew the consequences and nature of his act. Fogarty's father, James, a home on Washington Avenue, Saugerties, the witness noticed that his son was "very depressed, insecure and morose." The witness testified that his son's insurance policy in question had named the defendant's parents as beneficiaries.

Defense counsel produced jail records showing Fogarty had been a patient at the Hudson River State Hospital on two occasions after the shooting incident.

Robert Joseph Conley of Providence, R.I., a brother of the shooting victim, identified a photo that showed the dead man at Benedictine Hospital.

Sergeant Alan G. Smith, in charge of the State Police Laboratory testified that ballistics tests made of the .22 caliber bullet and casing in evidence had been fired from the gun used by Fogarty in the murder of Conley.

BCI Investigator Carl Van Wagenen, a prosecution witness, testified that he took the evidence in the case to the state laboratory for ballistics tests.

Kelder to Seek Aid for Kerhonkson Water District

ACCORD
Town of Rochester Supervisor Franklin Kelder will try to obtain emergency state and federal aid to help replace the old, Kerhonkson Water District. A special meeting was held Thursday night to discuss plans for the replacement of the district which serves 19 families in the Town of Rochester. The meeting was prompted when residents of the district asked the Town Board last Thursday to replace the system. Aaron Horowitz, engineer for the Kerhonkson Water District, said that it would cost an estimated $41,000 to replace the 40-year-old system. The cost would be shouldered by the 19 users in the district, meaning that each home would have to pay at least $2,000. "The cost would simply be prohibitive to put in a whole new system without some federal or state aid," said Kelder. "There are several retired persons living in the district who can't afford to pay a lot of money for a new water system."

Kelder said he will contact Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and Senator Jay P. Rollins for state and federal financial assistance. According to Kelder, the Town is also investigating the possibility of replacing the water pipes on a "cost-plus basis." Kelder explained that the town could buy the materials, charge the cost to the district, and then have a local contractor do the work, thereby avoiding the added costs of bidding the project. It would have to first be determined that the situation is an emergency. Further meetings will be scheduled to discuss developments.

Wawarsing Topic... Environmental Conservation Commission

ELLENVILLE Thursday night at the regular meeting of the Wawarsing Town Board. The creation of a town Environmental Conservation Commission was recommended. According to Supervisor

Frank W. Harkin, the Town Board will study the recommendation before taking steps to enact a local law that would give the commission its powers, from the hamlets in our township." He said the commission would be responsible for recommending and implementing ecological measures within the township.

"Once we form the commission," said Harkin, "we can get busy on conservation. One thing we have to do is get our landfills squared away."

In other matters discussed Thursday night, the Town Board accepted a low bid of $3,615.13 from Kreiger Chevrolet in Ellenville for a three-quarter ton pickup truck to be used by the Ulster County Temporary Manpower Commission for work in the Town of Wawarsing.

Furniture Ordered For New City Hall

KINGSTON The Building and Supply Committee of the Common Council met Thursday night at the old city hall and ordered $22,957 worth of furniture from the state for the new one. Alderman Emilio A. Primo

Jr. (D-Eighth Ward), chairman of the committee, told The Freeman that delivery would take from six to eight weeks.

The committee is expected to meet again next week to make a decision on filing cabinets, counter tops drapes and new desks for the aldermen.

The furnishing of the new city hall in Broadway East will be completed between May 15 and June 1. Primo said. Construction on the $975,000 building was completed in mid-February.

None of the old furniture at the present city hall, 408 Broadway, will be taken down to the new city hall. A public auction will be held on the old furniture. In February, the Council approved a $50,000 bond issue to pay for the new furnishings at city hall. The Building and Supply Committee includes Primo, Joseph McGrane (D-Second Ward), Edmond Roux (D-Ninth Ward), Clifford G. Sinsabaugh (D-Tenth Ward) and Titus B. Sims (R-13th Ward).

Police Probing Armed Robbery

EDDYVILLE An armed robbery at a general store on Route 213 in this community Thursday night is under investigation today by area authorities.

Hurley State Police reported Cornelius Salata, proprietor of the store, was alone in the establishment at 8:40 p. m., when a tall man holding a small weapon in his hand wrapped in cloth, entered and demanded money.

Senior Investigator Michael Lisman said the man holding what was described as a gun with the barrel protruding from cloth, made off with about $60 in cash that was taken from the cash register. Police reported the armed thief was last seen heading north on Route 213 in a small yellow car.

Salata called authorities and a search of the area failed to find any trace of the robber. Police toured the area looking for the getaway car.

The man was described as white, about 30 years old. He had dark hair and wore glasses and a leather jacket.

Tillson Youth Is Arrested

A 20-year-old Tillson resident was arrested on charges of petit larceny and criminal possession of drug implements Thursday afternoon and is in Ulster County Jail today in lieu of a total of $600 bail.

Karl Torgerson, 20, of Springtown Road, Tillson, was apprehended by Paul Trataros, proprietor of the Rosendale Food Center after he allegedly ran from the store with merchandise. Deputy Arthur Nersesian of the Ulster County Sheriff's Department was dispatched to the scene and upon investigation found a hypodermic needle and syringe in the youth's possession. Torgerson appeared before Town of Rosendale Justice Wilfred Doolittle who set bail at $100 on the petit larceny charge and $500 for the criminal possession charge. He is scheduled for reappearance March 14 at 4 p. m.

Katrine Grange Cites Reapport Opposition

LAKE KATRINE Lake Katrine Grange No. 1065 has gone on record as opposing the recent redistricting plan announced by the New York State Legislature.

In a prepared statement, Maurice Linder, master of the Lake Katrine Grange, said his group "wishes to go on record as being opposed to the new redistricting plan lumping us in with Dutchess, Putnam and Westchester Counties."

"The Town of Ulster is a rural area. Dutchess County is served by a railroad and has easy access to the larger communities in Connecticut without the necessity of paying tolls for their trucks on the bridges and the delays bridge crossing entails."

"Westchester County, being in such close proximity to the City of New York, is not rural but suburban. They draw upon the resources of the city for employment and for skilled labor for their industries.

"Therefore, the needs of these other counties and the Town of Ulster are very far apart. The things necessary for the development of this community cannot be gotten in opposition to these other counties. And elected officials would not be able to properly serve both types of communities in partially.

"We therefore request that this redistricting plan be dropped and another, which does not lump together communities with such different needs and interests, be instituted," Linder said.

Demonstration Near Offices Of Phone Firm

KINGSTON A New Paltz anti-war organization was scheduled to demonstrate in front of the New York Telephone Co. offices on Converse Street at 4 p.m. today to express their opposition to the 10 per cent federal excise tax included on monthly telephone bills.

Members of GROPE (The Group for the Reconciliation of People Everywhere) will publicly refuse to pay the tax, stating that it is used to finance the war in Vietnam.

According to Mike Stamm of Poughkeepsie, a member of GROPE, the demonstrators will instead turn the federal income tax money over to the People's Life Fund, which will in turn be used to supplement the emergency food relief program of the Ulster County Community Action Committee. It was emphasized that UCCAC has no part in the demonstration.

Light Agenda In Rosendale

ROSENDALE Monday night, and it will be determined whether audience response will make future broadcasts feasible.

In other matters discussed on the light agenda Wednesday night, the town accepted a low bid of $1,960 for the purchase of a voting machine from the Automatic Voting Machine Co. in Jamestown. Supervisor Gerard DeFelice reported that all of the town's voting machines are now less than five years old.

GROPE plans a similar demonstration each month to dramatize its opposition to the use of tax monies to finance the Vietnam war.

KHS Reunion

Search for Missing Boy Is Reduced

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y. (AP)—State Police and forest rangers continued a reduced search today for seven-year-old Walter Starr Jr., missing for six days from this Orange County community. A $2,500 reward was posted Thursday for information leading to the boy's safe return.

The Greenwood Elks Club offered the reward.

A team of about 60 experienced troopers and forest rangers combed a 12-square mile area of rugged countryside Thursday without finding a clue to the boy's whereabouts.

More than 400 volunteers had joined in the search since the youngster vanished Saturday. Lt. Joseph Strojnowski of the State Police substation at Monroe said, "It's highly improbable that we'd find him under the circumstances, if he's out there."

Area Driver Is Issued Summons

TOWN OF ULSTER A summons for failure to keep right was issued a Kingston driver after an early morning one-car accident at Conifer Lane and Hinsdale Street.

George E. Fatum, 18, of 180 Wrentham Street, Kingston, was proceeding north on Conifer Lane when he attempted to make a right turn at the intersection. He failed to negotiate the turn, went across the left lane and into a private gate coming to a stop in a private driveway.

Cpl. John Tuoy and Deputy Jerry Keller of the Ulster County Sheriff's Department investigated. The accident occurred at 12:20 a.m. today.

Fire Routs Javits Family

NEW YORK (UPI)—The wife and daughter of U.S. Sen. Jacob Javits, R.N.Y., were driven from their Park Avenue apartment by fire late Thursday night.

Fire officials said the blaze was confined to Javits' apartment and was quickly extinguished by firefighters.

The senator's wife, Marion, and his 16-year-old daughter, Carla, were in the apartment at the time. The fire department said. Neither was injured. Javits was not at home.

The blaze, in the bedroom and foyer, did moderate damage to the structure, but light damage to furnishings.

RED HOOK In commemoration of Girl Scouts of America 60th national anniversary and Dutchess County Girl Scouts 50th anniversary, the girls in the green uniforms will be selling cookies in Dutchess County the week of March 12-18.

Those in northern Dutchess begin with a rally and will be travelling door-to-door all week, according to Mrs. Joseph Graham of Tivoli.

The proceeds from these sales go toward enlarging upon camping facilities. In Dutchess County, these are located at Camp Sakajawea, Route 55, Windgate.

Kidnappers Free Auto Executive

PARIS (UPI)—Maoist kidnappers freed a Renault automobile factory executive today after the French government turned down their conditions for his release and warned it would crack down on the radicals.

Police said Robert Nogrette, 63, director of labor relations at the 90,000-worker Renault auto plant at suburban Billancourt, was released at 9 a.m. by Maoists who had kidnapped him Monday.

Nogrette, a gray-haired family man who worked his way up from a factory hand's position, was turned loose by the masked young Maoists on the streets of a busy district in downtown Paris.

Nogrette walked into a nearby sidewalk bistro and from a coin telephone called police to inform them of his release.

Nogrette was seized outside his Boulogne-Billancourt house early Monday by a group of Maoists who blame him for the dismissal of a number of extreme-leftwing sympathizers, and the shooting outside the Renault plant Feb. 25 in which Maoist worker Rene-Pierre Overney, 23, was shot dead by a factory guard.

The Maoists claimed Nogrette, one of the men in charge of hiring and firing employees in the 1.3 million cars-a-year nationalized firm, was responsible for the tensions between management and labor and thus indirectly was to blame for Overney's death.

Overney's funeral was attended by an estimated 200,000 persons and subsequent kidnapping of Nogrette had become a national political affair in France.

President George Pompidou, whose tough attitude as Premier helped the beleaguered De Gaulle regime to crush the 1968 student-labor "near-revolution," condemned Nogrette's kidnap as "an act befitting a country of savages."

The Maoists had called on workers at the Renault plant to meet Wednesday to decide the fate of Nogrette, but the workers refused to hold the meeting.

Seven Named To Board

The Olive Town Board has named seven persons to the newly formed Town Recreation Committee.

Appointees and their terms of office are Brad Kelder, seven years, Jean Henderson, six years, Evelyn Lang, five years, Everett Cook, four years, Thomas Stant, three years, Pat Tossi, two years and Larry Stowe, one year.

The board voted to rotate town board meetings in various localities during the next four months. The board has rotated several meetings during the past two years and the move has proven popular with town residents.

The schedule includes April 4, Veterans' Hall, Shokan; May 2, Olivebridge Fire House; June 6, Church Hall Sampsonville and July 6, Boiceville Fire House.

Mrs. Mae Steen reported to the board on the newly formed rescue squad. She said that there was a serious lack of volunteers to man the squad's ambulance and that a letter would be circulated to town residents asking for volunteers. The response to the letter will determine the fate of the rescue squad, Mrs. Steen told the board.

The board also voted to purchase an automatic voting machine for use in town elections.

Muskie Doesn't Concede Florida Primary to Wallace

By United Press International
Sen. Edmund S. Muskie has no intention of conceding Tuesday's Florida primary to Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, and Sen. George S. McGovern claims he leads in the Democratic scramble for convention delegates.

Muskie and McGovern followed their confrontation in New Hampshire by launching aggressive stretch drives in Florida Thursday, but there were indications the primary in New England this week had started to shorten the long list of presidential contenders.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., who got 3 per cent of the vote in New Hampshire while Muskie rolled up 48 per cent and McGovern received 37 per cent, said he was "disappointed" by the vote and "the overall failure to have any discussion of the issues." Hartke said he was "assessing the situation" and was uncertain whether to continue in the race.

And Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., a peace candidate who received 20 per cent of the vote as a challenger to President Nixon in New Hampshire, was home in California making a final decision today on whether he will file for re-election to Congress. McCloskey has said his name will remain on Republican ballots in five more state primaries but has indicated he may not be an active campaigner because of shortage of financial backing.

In Florida, Wallace generally is considered the favorite on the Democratic side of the ballot, but Muskie said he was not ready to concede the state.

"We're not out to elect a President of Florida or a particular region," Muskie said. "We're out to elect a President of the United States."

In Washington, McGovern aide Frank Mankiewicz said McGovern forces had lined up 65 to 70 delegates out of 264 chosen to date in seven states. No other candidate, including Muskie, has as many as 65, Mankiewicz claimed.

In Florida, McGovern addressed the state legislature and called the busing issue

"phony." He said tax reform was the "gut issue" of the campaign. In other political developments: —Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said in Washington he intended to visit college campuses during the campaign and hopes he can get a polite hearing for his views. —Oregon Secretary of State Clay Myers announced that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's name would be listed on Oregon's May 23 primary. Kennedy repeated that he was not a candidate. —New York Mayor John V. Lindsay said in Miami in a speech in front of a firearms factory that there should be national gun control laws to "end the senseless gunplay in America." —Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey campaigned among students at the University of Florida in Gainesville. Sen. Henry M. Jackson was in a helicopter that was blown into a palm tree at Maitland but no one on the helicopter was hurt. —Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., the only woman in the citizenship. —Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., said in Washington he was not the kind of active candidate that others are but would keep it badly. She said the present campaigning "to provide a greater choice on the Democratic side."

Marbletown To Extend Protection

The Marbletown Town Board voted Wednesday night to extend the High Falls Fire Protection District to include the area around Lake Mohonk.

The extension of the fire district south and west will bring about 30 families into the district. They formerly were not in any protection district.

Supervisor Kenneth D. Smith said the move would also relieve the town from paying special insurance premiums required by the state to cover residents who are not inside a fire protection district.

The board also voted to create a new (sixth) voting district in the Vly Atwood area. The new district includes about 700 people who formerly voted in the Stone Ridge, Kripplush, and Lomontville voting districts. Smith said the move would make it easier for these families to reach voting places.

The town was notified by its insurance carriers, Green and Hall, that it was receiving a 19 per cent credit on insurance premiums for highway department vehicles because of the excellent safety record piled up by highway department drivers.

Several persons in attendance also praised the work of the highway department under adverse conditions during the past month. The department is now headed by Milford VanDeMark, who took office January 1.

Yoga Retreat In Barrytown

If you are looking for a little peace and quiet these days, it might be worth your while to investigate a Yoga Retreat to be held this month at St. Joseph's Christian Brothers Seminary in Barrytown.

An advertisement in The Village Voice declares that the entire ten-day retreat will cost about $100. St. Joseph's closed down about two years ago as a training school for young priests, but caretakers have been preparing the institute for the March 31 to April 9 program.

Participants, and a spokesman for Integral Yoga Institute estimated there will be about 200, will be expected to remain silent for the entire ten-day period.

The Integral Yoga Institute of New York City was reported by The Freeman to be looking for a permanent camp in the mid-Hudson Valley in a story last summer, precisely for this type of activity.

Other features of the retreat will be vegetarian meals, yoga practices and posture, breathing and relaxation exercises, and meditation.

The institute was formed about five years ago by Swami Satichandananda and is thriving at two locations in New York. Most participants in the retreat will probably be city residents seeking tranquility in the wooded hills of Barrytown, but persons from the area will be welcomed.

The institute is at 227 W. 13th Street, New York City.

Ulster Dissected

The operation was a success, but let's hope the patient doesn't die.

The patient in this case is Ulster County, and the operation was skillfully performed in Albany by Surgeon Rockefeller, assisted by a team of congressional cohorts who dissected Ulster into three distinct congressional districts, and fearfully in the process, splintering the area's homogeneity while distilling our political impact. The old 28th CD will be partitioned into the 25th, 26th and 27th, giving us a variety of titles if not much consolidated political clout.

The 25th Congressional District, for instance, will consist of the City of Kingston and the Towns of Saugerties, Ulster, Esopus, and Lloyd, joining with various communities on the east bank of the Hudson.

The new 26th District will comprise of the Towns of Marlboro, Plattekill and Shawangunk, joining communities in Rockland and Orange Counties; and the 27th District—a trans-state monument to gerrymandering—will have as its components 13 towns, including Marletown, New Paltz, Woodstock and Rosendale linked in a grotesque transplant to the counties of Tioga, Broome and Sullivan, plus odd and assorted parts of Tomkins, Chemung and Delaware. This last district surely is unchallenged by few in the vast distances involved and the dissimilarity of its constituents' interests.

So Albany had rendered our county—forgetting the mutual interests of Ulster's inhabitants and the cohesiveness of our physical boundaries. It is now necessary to constantly make our presence known to our three representatives, and not allow ourselves to be relegated to the role of a backseat and backwater constituency.

Threat to Freedom

"I clearly don't understand what this is all about," said Massachusetts Governor Sargent when queried about the report that he had been under Army surveillance. Many other Americans are equally puzzled.

Just how much snooping has been going on in recent years is impossible to determine. The frightening Orwellian spectre of Big Brother watching in every room has not materialized—yet.

But in the process of wiretapping, bugging, picture-taking and personal observation, millions of words have been poured into computer banks, much to the discomfort of many Americans.

Among those concerned is Sam J. Ervin, senior senator from North Carolina, chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights and a former state Supreme Court judge.

He sees the government spying as a very grave threat and he scorns the superficial suggestion that "If you've done nothing wrong, there's nothing to be afraid of."

There's a lot to fear, Senator Ervin feels, because of the psychological chilling effect that results when people know the government is spying on them. "They refrain from exercising their right to associate with other people for the accomplishment of the purposes they believe in and their right to petition the government for redress of grievances," the committee chairman notes.

The senator criticized the policy of gathering miscellaneous information and storing it in computers as potentially very harmful. He cited reports showing a person arrested for a certain crime, but not showing whether he was acquitted or even brought to trial. His point was that unverified information is dangerous.

He was especially unhappy with the snooping done by the Army, supposedly triggered by the President's need to know what was going on in the country so that he might anticipate where there would be violence or some sort of insurrection.

One of the distinguishing and prized differences between this country and other nations has been the freedoms enjoyed by Americans as guaranteed by our Constitution. A continuance of this unwarranted invasion of privacy poses a very real threat to those traditional freedoms.

WASHINGTON — It has now been 14 months since 81-year-old John McCormack finally retired as Speaker of the House. He was a relic of another era, too old to lead, too feeble to grasp the issues of the times.

Yet McCormack's retreat to Boston, under the shame of the scandal surrounding his top assistant, Dr. Martin Swig, did little to revitalize the House. McCormack at least understood the use of power. And he was personally an honorable man.

Unhappily, the House is not a better place without him. The men who have filled the power vacuum show even less leadership ability, and they lack McCormack's strong ethics.

Carl Albert, the pint-sized Oklahoma politician who moved up to the Speaker's chair, has demonstrated on almost every possible occasion that the gavel is too heavy for him.

He does most of his swinging away from the chamber. He has startled more than one hostess by showing up at a party, not with his wife, but with his lovely Eurasian assistant on his arm. And he used to spend too much time around the punch bowl.

Now the Speaker, second in line for the presidency, tells friends he is staying away from the bottle. But the Eurasian girl is still on the payroll.

Majority Leader Hale Boggs is second in command of the House. Friends suspect John Barleycorn was the ghost writer for Boggs' poorly researched attack on J. Edgar Hoover.

Battler Boggs

The Democratic leader also has a reputation as a bar fighter. He slugged it out with a former Congressman at the prestigious Gridiron Club dinner.

He had to be locked in a room when he went to Florida to speak at a fund raiser for another Congressman. The guests were on their way out when Boggs broke free, mounted the rostrum and boggled the minds of his listeners with a free wheeling discourse.

Another night, he defended his heavyweight title in a Baton Rouge, La., restaurant. He topped it off with an incredible exhibition at a party for the House leadership at the home of Clark MacGregor, the White House lobbyist.

Albert is so wary of Boggs' behavior that he is afraid to step down from the chair and turn control of the House over to the man who is supposed to be his prime assistant. Albert has even cancelled trips to avoid leaving Boggs as boss.

The kindly Boggs has sought medical help. He knows he has a problem. So do the other 431 members of the House.

The crisis of leadership may not seem too important to citizens who just pay their taxes and expect the man they elect to do a job. But the sad fact is that, without leadership, the job doesn't get done.

Footnote: Perhaps the most competent leader in the House is Wilbur Mills, the crafty Ways and Means chairman. He probably could have beaten Albert in a showdown in January 1971. He chose not to contest the Speakership then. Within three months, however, he began to mount his strange little campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination. People who know him think he really wants to be Speaker.

Out in the Cold

The professionals who are supposed to chart U. S. Foreign policy, increasingly, are being shut off from the information they need to do their job.

The experts who keep a sharp diplomatic eye on China and Russia, for example, learned about President Nixon's preparations to visit Peking and Moscow indirectly from American Communist leader Gus Hall.

A routine FBI report, passing on information that an informant had picked up from Gus Hall, gave the State Department's experts more information than they had been able to get out of the White House.

The China specialists, still in the dark about many details of the President's Peking visit, have warned that they must be given more information if they are to produce sound analyses.

Their access to information has also been limited by the security crackdown that followed our publication of the secret India-Pakistan papers. The Xerox machines are tightly restricted by day and locked by night. To make a copy of a secret document now just about requires a presidential waiver.

Footnote: There has been a frantic flurry of secret telegrams between Washington and Bangkok over our report that some of Thailand's top officials are operating a fleet of 11 trawlers, which move dozens of tons of opium a year to Hong Kong for shipment to American addicts. The 11 ships ply their trade year round, with no hindrance from Thai authorities. The State Department is anxiously trying to get its ducks in a row in case of a congressional inquiry.

Quality Education

WASHINGTON — It will take some time for the implications of the lengthy report made by the President's Commission on school finance to be absorbed by the state and local governments as well as the interested citizens who have been hearing the argument that busing is necessary to provide "quality" education for all children.

Neil H. McElroy, who is chairman of the commission, has stressed certain points in conversation with newsmen which need to be brought to the attention of the country.

The commission spent two years on its study, and its major recommendation is that the states, rather than local subdivisions, should raise the money needed for education. Mr. McElroy asserted, however, that it is the determination of the commission that the states should have a right to decide what tax sources would be tapped for the purpose. One of them is a property tax collected on a statewide basis. Another is the sales tax, and a third is the income tax. Mr. McElroy declared:

"The reason we didn't recommend any single way to go about this was that we felt the states would have differing reasons for going differing routes. We felt that it was quite likely that the states would find some combination of these three as the way in which the money would be raised in their state."

Mr. McElroy and other members of the commission met with President Nixon immediately after the report was submitted this week. As to the President's reaction, the commission's chairman noted:

"The thing that I would say the President did express firm agreement with was the belief on the part of the commission that the first obligation of the country is to seek that rather intangible — but we tried to define it — meaning of quality education and equality of educational opportunity in all schools."

"So many of the troubles that education has in this country seem to us to arise from the unevenness of the quality of education and the fact that in certain areas you seem to find difficulty in obtaining what you want for your children."

On the question of control of the schools Mr. McElroy said:

"Our position is that once the money aspects have been taken care of as we recommend that the local school districts then have really quite major responsibility within such areas as curriculum, staffing, and so on, so that we continue in our thinking about this to envision the local school district as having the major responsibility for the quality of education once the money question has been resolved at the state level."

A separate report by a special panel dealing with "nonpublic education" has not yet been submitted. But the commission itself proposes certain forms of aid to non public schools including the use of "constitutionally permissible" funds to provide transportation to children attending such schools. Asked if he took the same position for public schools Mr. McElroy explained:

"I think what I had better say to you is that we have not taken the busing question into our consideration of busing that the basic objective of our commission should be to try to find ways in which the quality of education and the equal educational opportunity — those two fancy phrases — which most everybody subscribes to and certainly we do — that this should be available in all schools, and our job, therefore, should be to try to get this quality evened out and then the incentive for busing would be substantially less than we think it is at the present time where you have uneven quality of education in a number of school districts."

Mr. McElroy referred to the problems involved in helping non-public schools and said that "it really has been impossible to find any proposal that looks as if it would withstand the two tests of feasibility and judicial acceptance." He added that the commission feels there should be a continuing effort to try to determine how financial assistance can be offered to nonpublic schools. Among the commission's suggestions are tax deductions or credits to parents for tuition fees and making students at nonpublic schools eligible for more "child benefit services" such as breakfasts and lunches, health care, transportation and textbooks.

The whole subject of providing a quality education, for the nation's children, in spite of where they live or what schools they attend, is getting a more thorough examination than it has ever had before.

Golf Is a Chronic Illness

If I ever lose my mind — the tense is debatable — it is going to be over golf. The good days and bad scores are just over the hill. After 30 years of hacking at a dimpled white sphere, I am convinced that golf is not a game; it's a chronic illness. There is no cure, no remission of symptoms; it is the only thing in life that a man quits once a week.

All golfers are happy and hopeful before they tee off. This is the time when the insane promise themselves that today they will put the whole thing together — the long fairway shots; the pitch-ups and the putts. One of the ironies of golf is that I have never seen a duffer make a bad practice swing.

His form is perfect. His front hip moves out of the way gracefully, and he looks like a ballet dancer with a bludgeon in his hands. It is when the little ball is set on top of the tiny stick that all hell breaks loose. The practice swing is over; he stands bent forward, looking down at the little ball, hitching and twitching, and then he hauls off like a farmer killing a snake, catches the top ten percent of the ball, and watches it bound across the ladies' tee.

The language is original and insufferable. He calls himself names heard only in X-rated movies. On the second shot, his heart's desire is to make amends for the first goof, so he swings twice as hard and moves the ball forward a few feet on nothing more than a whistling wind.

I have worked at this form of fairway leprosy for 30 years. The best I can do is average 97. When the weather is right, I will work in the morning and at night, torture myself with golf all afternoon, and phone friends offering to give away clubs and bag — no questions asked.

Fortunately, no one wants my beat-up clubs. They are left-handed and, although I prefer sneakers, Years ago, I got lucky on the 8th hole of the Diplomat, 142 yards, and got a hole in one. The envious sports commentators on television said: "Jim Bishop, writer, hit a hole in one on the Diplomat 8th today, shooting left-handed, wearing sneakers, and using a range ball." It was all true, but did they have to crush me with my own afflictions?

Two weeks ago, I played in Lauderdale, Fla., in the Jackie Gleason-Inverary Pro-Am for two days. I had never seen the layout or the golfers. The place is as beautiful as any in the country, and Gleason, as always put on a first-class tournament. I played the east course with Mason Rudolph, a spectacular young man who hits a ball out of sight, and worse, straight.

I teed off before a packed audience of seven, including my friend Gene Kroll, and rapped a Hogan 3 all the way to a palm tree 30 yards out. This, I learned as the day progressed, was my good shot. I came in with 102 and Mason Rudolph returned to the clubhouse with no chance to win the classic.

The second day I played the west course with John Schlee, who is six feet thirteen inches tall and weighs 70 pounds. He looks like a ball retriever. He too hits them long and straight. He can also use a wedge from 150 yards out, drive the ball past the pin, and make it walk back to the hole.

He gave me some sound ideas on where to lay my putts, how to tee off with the three-wood I always use, and I carded 107. We haven't spoken since. My consolation was that we had in our foursome an executive of the Old Mr. Boston brewery who couldn't hit the ground if he fell down. Whenever I felt low, which was all the time, I watched this character dropkick the ball another 20 yards.

A few years ago, I played in the pro-am at the Danny Thomas tournament. This was another monumental mistake. The pro was Chuck Courtney of San Diego, who looks like an elevator shaft in a high rise, wearing a sun visor on the top floor. Mr. Courtney hits them long and sickeningly straight.

In this tournament there was a character from Grosse Pointe, Mich., who paid $2,000 to play with a celebrity — me. On the first par 5, we were in opposite traps beside the green in six. Courtney was on in two, twitching his visor. Standing near the pin, he was horrified to see me coming up out of the trap with a putter, while Mr. Grosse Pointe friend was slamming a ball out of the opposite trap with a wood.

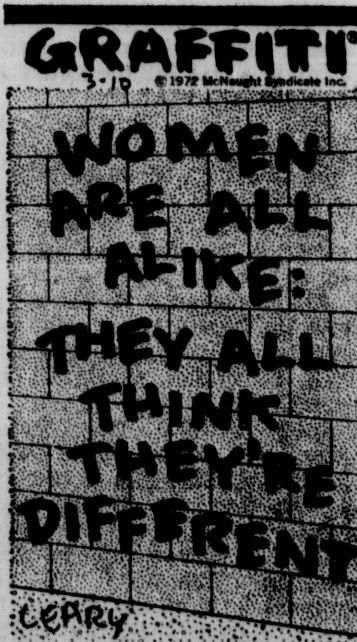

Courtney, of course, blew the tournament. On the 16th, he said quietly: "Let me understand something, Mr. Bishop. Did that man back there in the rough pay $2,000 to play with you?" I said yes. "Then tell me," he said sorrowfully, "why does he spend twenty minutes looking for a buck and a quarter ball?"

I quit the game again today. It quit me 30 years ago...

Ulster Defense Members On Move From Outposts

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Ulster Defense Regiment (UDR) members, weary and fearful of Irish Republican Army (IRA) assassination threats, are starting to move away from lonely, vulnerable border farmsteads.

Three volunteers in the UDR, a 7,000-man military organization, have died at the hands of the IRA in the last 10 days. The latest victim was killed Wednesday when 42 shots were fired inside a customs post at Middletown, County Armagh.

Thursday, as British soldiers watched, four families moved their possessions from small stone farmhouses in wild mountain country south of Enniskillen. Another family moved today. All of them are small cattle farmers who own an average of 15 animals.

Most have lived in the region all their lives. Only one family disclosed where it was going — to the relative anonymity of life in Belfast.

"They moved out because it was felt it was unwise to remain in these border areas under the present circumstances," a UDR source said. "It's doubtful they'll ever come back."

British Army sources said that a blast which killed three men and wrecked two houses in Belfast's Roman Catholic Lower Falls Road area Thursday could have been caused by IRA "bomb builders" working with faulty gelignite.

The explosion injured four other persons, flung pieces of bodies, furniture and household goods into the street and smashed dozens of windows.

Women and children ran screaming from their homes. Civilians, normally hostile to the army in the Falls area, joined with troops to search the rubble for victims.

Police said later they believed the victims were Provisional IRA members and were working on about 30 pounds of gelignite in a "bomb factory."

The army sources said it was "quite possible" the explosive was in poor condition. The sources said the IRA used a total of 2,400 pounds of gelignite for bombs during February. Army bomb disposal experts defused 800 pounds of the devices and found quite a lot of the material in dangerous shape.

Israeli Jets Launch Attack On Three Lebanese Villages

By United Press International — Eighteen Israeli jets attacked three villages in southern Lebanon Thursday. An Israeli military source said today the raids were a warning to the Lebanese government to keep Arab guerrillas out of their territory.

Arab newsmen said two guerrillas were killed and at least five others wounded in the 30-minute attack on the villages of Kfeir, Khloet El-Kfeir and Memiss about 14 miles inside the Lebanese border. Two civilians—a father and one of his children—also were wounded.

The air strikes were the first into Lebanon since Israeli ground and air troops moved into the area Feb. 25 to break up guerrilla strongholds. The area is called Fatahland for the Al Fatah guerrilla group.

Officially, Thursday's air raids were made in retaliation for rocket attacks against two Israeli border settlements earlier in the day. No casualties were reported in the shelling.

However, a military source in Tel Aviv said the raids emphasized Israel's unwillingness to let Arab guerrillas regroup or resettle in the area. He said the target area was "where the terrorists had been hanging around."

Newsmen said the Israeli jets destroyed four houses used by the guerrillas near Kfeir and damaged several others. An Al Fatah spokesman denied the jets inflicted any casualties.

section of Jerusalem except for the Al Aqsa mosque.

In return, Israel will give the currently occupied west bank of the Jordan River back to Jordan after autonomous rule is established. The west bank, the newspaper said, will also be completely demilitarized.

State Officials Score Con Edison Fishkills

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Two state officials have testified at an Environmental Conservation Department hearing that Consolidated Edison Co. should have known from previous experience that its Indian Point No. 2 power plant would cause massive fishkills in the Hudson River.

ECD Commissioner Henry L. Diamond ordered testing of the plant halted Feb. 29 after operations of the facility allegedly killed more than 100,000 fish during a five-day period.

Alexander Grannis, counsel for the department, and Anthony J. Bonavist, a department biologist, told a hearing Tuesday that experience with Consolidated Edison's No. 1 plant should have been sufficient warning that the second plant also would have a detrimental effect on fish in the river.

Bonavist said the utility's No. 1 nuclear plant "has been a significant number of the fish since 1963," and that the No. 2 plant operates on the same engineering principles.

Harry G. Woodbury, executive vice president for environmental affairs for Con Ed, told hearing officer Francis Carine that the No. 2 plant "has not and will not have a significant impact on the life of the Hudson River."

However, he agreed with the assertion that 100,000 fish had been killed in the river before the plant testing was stopped last month. Yet he argued that the operation of the 873,000-kilowatt facility should continue, to test new methods of eliminating the danger to fish.

County Band Festival Saturday at UCCC

The new auditorium at Ulster County Community College will be the site this year for the annual County Band Festival Concert, to be presented on Saturday, at 8 p.m. More than 200 students from schools all over the county will be rehearsing in three bands throughout the day in preparation for the evening performance.

Selection of the 70-piece High School and 80-piece Middle School Bands was by audition this year, with more than 200 student musicians judged on their playing of prepared numbers to determine membership in the groups. The Elementary Band of 100 was chosen by director recommendation.

Edward Gobrecht, bassoon instructor and director of the famous Ithaca College Concert Band, will conduct the High School Band. Gobrecht has had much experience directing organizations of this type and will offer the young musicians an excellent musical experience.

The Middle School Band will be directed by Anthony Hummel, director of the Kingston High School Band. He has had a great deal of experience working with young people of all age levels. Hummel is especially known locally for his work with the Kingston Mendelssohn Club.

The Elementary Band will be under the baton of William Hain of the Saugerties School Music Department. A graduate of Juilliard and Columbia, Hain has taught at Duke University, the University of Texas, and Wisconsin. He has also directed many High School, Junior, and Elementary Bands throughout the country.

Tickets for the Festival Concert will be on sale at the door, and all are welcome. The Ulster County School Music Educators Association hopes that many people will take this opportunity to hear the talented student musicians of the county perform.

Mr. E.S.P. to Speak At Mount St. Mary's

The Amazing Kreskin, "Mr. E.S.P.," will speak at Mount Saint Mary College, Newburgh, at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Mar. 15, in the College Theatre. His topic is "The Sound of Mind."

Kreskin, a familiar talk-show guest on such major programs as Johnny Carson's Tonight Show, The Merv Griffin Show and the Mike Douglas Show, learned that he could play the piano by ear at age five and at age 12 discovered he could hypnotize people.

He says, "I don't hypnotize people anymore because it finally dawned on me that there is nothing on earth you can do with a person hypnotized that you can't do with him wide-awake." Now in his 30's, he has become well-known not only as an entertainer, but also as a recognized consultant to psychologists, psychiatrists and dentists.

Kreskin, who reports a reading speed of 7,000 words per minute, is a practitioner of extrasensory perception and has perfected the science of psychosonics (sound of mind). At Seton Hall, his alma mater, psychology Professor Frank Murphy has given testimony to the mentalist's role as a forerunner in refined communication. "Kreskin has developed a strikingly unique and different method of communication, which may take more than 50 years to become common," says Murphy. Kreskin insists that everyone has the same power or skill laying dormant within him which appears to be supernatural psychic talents.

Tickets for Kreskin's appearance may be obtained by calling the Mount Saint Mary College Government Office or may be purchased at the door.

Coat Influences

This is the year of the classic look in coats and that modern classicist, Count Romi, makes the scene with spring coat shaped to the body and belted. Ruffles and rouche add to this feminine look. Brilliant contrasts in bindings is a theme that runs throughout the Romi spring collection. Also apparent: Chinese and nautical influences.

Hypochondriac's Hubby Needs a Doctor, Too

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)
DEAR ABBY: My wife is a hypochondriac. She complains night and unfortunately, day. If one thing doesn't hurt her, something else does. She either can't sleep or she can't stay awake. I have been sympathetic, but I am all worn out from listening to her. I can't get a good night's sleep, and the hours awake with her are a bore.

Her doctor said there is nothing wrong with her, but he keeps her well supplied with "tranquilizers" which are really just pills with nothing in them. (She complains about the "reaction" she gets from them, too.) There is an Alcoholics Anonymous and a Gamblers Anonymous. Tell me, is there a Hypochondriacs Anonymous?

THE REAL SUFFERER

DEAR SUFFERER: One who complains night and day about pains, imagined or real, can't sleep and can't stay awake, and has "reactions" from pills with nothing in them, is suffering in every sense of the word. Ask the doctor who said there was nothing wrong with her to recommend a doctor who treats "healthy" people with your wife's symptoms. And don't put it off, or you'll need treatment, too.

DEAR ABBY: I am a well-adjusted male homosexual who occasionally needs a female companion to accompany me to business and social functions. Conversely, I have female homosexual acquaintances who also need a male escort for certain

Bridal Shower For Doreen Muscari

Miss Doreen Muscari was honored at a surprise bridal shower on February 21 in the High Falls Firehall. The shower was given by her attendants, the Misses Diane Muscari, Sharon Wright, Susan Lambertson, Dolores Muscari, Donna Muscari and Lisa Temple.

Among those attending were the Misses Shelly Polimine, Bertha Temple, Phyllis Mazzeo, Ida Albright, Marthabelle North, Linda Dawson, Doris Wright, Dolores Lambertson, Helen Lambertson, Stephanie Temple, Diane Potter, Margaret Andersen, Betty Rask, Fannie Lima, Carole Drosowich, Denis Ostrander.

Also the Misses Debbie Boughton, Carol Ann Drosowich, Barbara Lima, Susan Potter, Carol Potter, Linda Hayes and Wendy Delamater. Gifts were received from those unable to attend.

Miss Doreen Muscari will become the bride of Lyle Dimler on March 11 at 3 p.m. in St. Peter's Church, Rosendale.

occasions, and therefore we "help each other out."

The problem arises when I go out with the girl as a favor to her. Should I be expected to pick up the check for the entire evening?

I have had evening which have cost me $30 and more. I hate to be a cheapskate, but I can't afford many of these outings. How do you suggest this be handled?

PERPLEXED HOMOSEXUAL

DEAR PERPLEXED: Since you obviously are perfectly candid about why you "help each other out," level with each other in the matter of finances. The one who needs the favor should pick up the check.

DEAR ABBY: We have a neighbor who is constantly painting his house. Altho he has aluminum siding, he keeps painting the trim around the windows.

He uses a very small brush and keeps going round and round the house, and when he's finished he scrapes off the paint and starts to paint it all over again.

Another odd thing he does: When he paints the second story trim he leaves the can of paint of the ground, dips his little brush into the paint and climbs the ladder and paints some more.

I have watched him by the hour, completely fascinated. I wonder, is there something wrong with this man?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Possibly not. Maybe he just enjoys the fresh air an exercise. Or likes to paint!!

DEAR ABBY: I disagree with your advice to "New in Town," who served an outstanding dessert and was reluctant to give the recipe out.

You said, "Would your enjoyment be diminished if others enjoyed it, too? Share!" I say, let "New in Town" keep her recipe to herself. She's not selfish. She's just an individual with a special

UCCCC Opens Against Southern Idaho

STONE RIDGE
Ulster County Community College's chances of survival in the championship bracket of the NJCAA Basketball Tournament in Hutchinson, Kansas, next week will be subjected to a quick and severe test.

Coach Mike Perry's Region XV champions have drawn the 1971 runnerup — College of Southern Idaho — for their opener Tuesday at 7:45 p. m.

In the fifth game of the tournament, Ulster goes into the game with a 27-2 record, while the Region 14 champions posted a 25-4 standard this season.

Since a victory is a must in the first game there is no minimizing the magnitude of the Southern Idaho challenge. The westerners have been nationally ranked in the top 10 or 15 for the past several years.

If Ulster gets by Idaho, it will play the winner of the game between the Region 6 champions — still to be determined — and the survivors of the game between Ferrum Junior College and Robert Morris of Pittsburgh in the inter-regional playoff between Regions 10 and 19.

Other first round pairings in the sixteen-team field in order of appearance are:

Tuesday, March 14
Game 1 — Winners Region 9

(Wyoming) vs. winners Region 16 (Missouri-Montana) 12 p. m.
Game 2 — Dalton CC, Dalton, Georgia, Region 17 vs. Gulf Coast JC, Panama City, Florida, Region 8, 1:45 p. m.
Game 3 — Arizona-Western, Yuma, Arizona, Region 1 vs. Paducah Junior College, Paducah, Ky., Region 7, 3:30 p. m.
Game 4 — Erie Tech, Buffalo, Region 3 vs. Vincennes JC, Vincennes, Indiana, Region 12, 6 p. m.

Game 5 — Ulster County Community, Region 15, vs. College Southern Idaho, Region 18, 7:45 p. m.
Game 6 — Winner Region 6 (Kansas) vs. winner of game between Ferrum Junior College (Region 10, North Carolina) and Robert Morris, Region 19, Pennsylvania-Maryland, 9:30 p. m.

(Wednesday, March 15)
Game 7 — Seminole JC, Seminole, Florida, Region 2 vs. Burlington, Iowa, Region 11, 1 p. m.
Game 8 — Tyler Junior College, Tyler, Texas, (Region 5) vs. Robert Morris, Region 4, Carthage, Illinois, 2:45 p. m.

Dalton Community College of Dalton Georgia has the best record, 54-0, going into the first round. Other standout marks include Ulster's 27-2, Vincennes, Indiana, the No. 1 ranked team of the 1971-2 season with 28-0, Gulf Coast, Panama City, Fla., 29-0 and Seminole of Florida, 28-3.

The tournament is a single elimination affair, with first round losers moving to a special consolation bracket of eight teams.

Wet Spot Hurts Sonics' Title Hopes

A leaky spot in the Seattle Coliseum, sometimes called "the world's largest shower bath," has dimmed the hopes of the Seattle Sonics for second place and a playoff berth in the NBA's Pacific Division.

Spencer Haywood, the club's high-scoring forward, slipped on a wet spot Sunday night against Atlanta, sprained a knee, and weakened the Sonics' attack.

They could have used his firepower Thursday night as the Philadelphia 76ers pulled away late in the final period for a 128-123 win after Houston tripped Portland 114-111 in the opener of a doubleheader in the only NBA action.

Seattle grabbed a 63-58 halftime lead over the 76ers but Fred Carter tossed in 16 of his 26 points in the third quarter for a 97-89 third period lead.

The Sonics fought back with the aid of some fine outside shooting by Barry Clements and pulled within one point, 122-121, with a minute left.

Carter then hit a jumper with 52 seconds left and Billy Cunningham added another with just 13 seconds left to ice it. Bill Bridges also had 26 for the winners while Lenny Wilkens led Seattle with 24.

The loss left the Sonics 1½ games behind second place Golden State in the Pacific Division.

Houston was out in front of Portland by as much as 22 points at one point, blew the lead and then had to come back in the fourth quarter to win it.

The trailblazers battled from way back to take a 106-96 lead with six minutes left but Rudy Tomjanovich hit eight of nine shots from the field in the final period to pull it out for the Rockets.

Tomjanovich got 29 for the winners and Elvin Hayes added 19.

Bill Flett Comes Back To Haunt Los Angeles

By United Press International
The Los Angeles Kings were wondering who wound up Bill Flett.

The Kings, last in the National Hockey League's West Division, held a 2-1 lead in the third period when Flett, a former King, and linemate Bobby Clarke went to work.

Flett scored three goals and assisted on another in a 3-1-2 minute span of the final period to boost the Philadelphia Flyers to a 5-3 victory. The triumph boosted the Flyers into a third place tie with St. Louis, which lost 5-1 to Montreal in the only other NHL game Thursday night.

Ralph Backstrom and Jimmy Johnson hit goals early in the third period to offset Clarke's second period goal before Flett began his spree. He scored at 10:58, assisted on Clarke's second goal at 11:28, picked up his second goal 10 seconds later and then completed his fourth career "hat trick" at 14:29.

Clarke assisted on all three goals, two of which came on power plays.

Baseball Strike Threatened

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Marvin Miller, president of the Major League Players' Association, was scheduled to meet today with the pension committee to discuss benefits in the event of a strike against baseball on March 31.

Miller announced Thursday that he was ready to poll all major league players seeking authorization to strike if the owners refused to agree to a 17 per cent increase in pension benefits to cover cost of living increases.

Under the present plan, the owners put $5,450,000 over a three year period, including a premium package of $800,000. The players, through Miller, are seeking an increase in premium payments of $372,000 for one year.

Miller said the players have the following three options if agreement is not reached:

1. No one will work after March 31.
2. Players will stop work on opening day, April 5.
3. Players will take off every Saturday afternoon and Monday night — a procedure which would hamstring baseball's network telecasts, including the All-Star game.

Miller said that members of the Chicago White Sox voted, 31-0, to authorize a strike if the owners refused to meet the demand for additional pension money.

John Allyn, owner of the White Sox, said in Washington, that he was surprised by his player's vote but admitted he knew little of the negotiations since he doesn't serve on the pension committee.

"I've heard they are asking for pension benefits for former players back to 1947," said Allyn. "That's an item they were offered in the past but blocked. Now at a very expensive time, they want to go back and pick up."

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn is understood to have set a meeting with the pension committee for March 22.

Joe Signs for 'Security'

By United Press International
Joe Torre, the one-time Brooklyn "fat boy" who converted from a catcher into a third baseman last season, has signed a two-year contract with the St. Louis Cardinals named "security."

Torre, whose .363-24-137 batting performance earned him the National League's Most Valuable Player Award last season, agreed to a contract Thursday which gives him $130,000 this year and $150,000 in 1973. He had been dickered for a three-year contract but accepted the Cardinals' "last offer" after they invoke baseball's renewal clause.

Pitcher Jerry Reuss of the Cardinals also signed Thursday for an estimated $22,500 under the same threat and the Atlanta Braves announced they also are using the renewal clause to bring Earl Williams, Orlando Cepeda and Rico Carty into camp.

In other camps: Billy Williams and Ron Santo homered for the Chicago Cubs in a 5-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians ... Ken Henderson's two-run double in a three-run fifth inning rally paced the San Francisco Giants to an 8-5 triumph over the Oakland Athletics.

The Minnesota Twins drubbed the Chicago White Sox, 10-1, for their sixth straight win as rookie Bobby Darwin drove in five runs with his third homer of the spring and a two-run single ... Juan Beniquez's infield single and Carl Yas-trenski's sacrifice fly enabled the Boston Red Sox to beat the New York Yankees, 2-1. The runs were off Mel Stottlemyre.

Manager Sparky Anderson of the Cincinnati Reds said the hitting of rival shortstops Darrel Chaney and Dave Concepcion will determine who wins the regular job inasmuch as both are equal defensively ... Larry Yount struck out all six batters he faced in the Houston Astros' final intra-squad game ... Rookie Gary Sanerino's homer was the only run in the Kansas City Royals' intra-squad game.

Dave Parker doubled in two runs in a three-run eighth-inning rally which enabled the Pittsburgh Pirates to beat the New York Mets, 5-4 ... The Texas Rangers rallied for five runs in the middle innings to top the University of Miami, 6-2

The San Diego Padres, unable to come to terms with third baseman Ed Spiezio, sold him outright to Hawaii in the Pacific Coast League ... Winston Llenas drove in both runs and had three hits for the California Angels in their intra-squad game.

Kentucky in NCAA

(By United Press International)

Kentucky will be the South-eastern Conference's representative in the NCAA basketball tournament but Tennessee Coach Ray Mears still feels he has the better team.

Mears was seething over the officiating in Thursday night's game, won by Kentucky 67-66 to decide the SEC entry for the NCAA tourney.

"There were gutless calls all night," said Mears. "They were afraid to call fouls on the Big Blue (Kentucky)."

Mears especially was upset about a call with five seconds remaining and Kentucky leading by a point, Mike Edwards was fouled and the officials ruled it a one-shot foul. Mears' contention was that Edwards' fouled while shooting and should receive two shots. Edwards missed his shot, ending Tennessee's hopes.

Len Kosmalki scored 15 points in the first half to give Tennessee a 32-30 lead but Kentucky's defense adjusted in the second half to subdue the Vols' seven-foot center, Jim Andrews, Kentucky's 6-11 pivot-man, scored 20 points to lead the Wildcats.

"What hurt them was when we shut off Kosmalki," said veteran Coach Adolph Rupp. "And we used their 1-3-1 trap to do it. This was a great team no depth. We got everything you could squeeze out of these boys," added Rupp, who went with his five starters all the way. "You can only squeeze an orange so much."

Kentucky, which tied Tennessee for the SEC title with its victory, earned the NCAA berth since it beat the Volunteers in both meetings this season. The Wildcats will compete in the Mid-East regionals at Dayton, Ohio, next week while Tennessee, according to sources in New York, will be named to the National Invitation Tournament field today.

In the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament at Greensboro, N. C., Duke, Maryland and Virginia won to join regular-season champion North Carolina, which drew a bye, in the semifinals. The tournament winner will receive an NCAA berth while two runnersup are expected to go to the NIT in New York.

Tom McMillen scored 16 points and Len Elmore turned in a solid defensive performance to lead Maryland past Clemson 54-52. Barry Parkhill's 24 points carried Virginia to a 74-65 triumph over Wake Forest and Duke, with Stu Yarbrough and Gary Melchionni scoring 16 points each, upended North Carolina State 73-60.

In other action Thursday night, sophomore George Gervin scored 20 points and Lindell Reason hit two foul shots with two seconds left to lift Eastern Michigan to a 61-59 victory over Kentucky Wesleyan in opening round action of the NCAA College Division Great Lakes Regional. Don Buse and Steve Welmer combined for 43 points as Evansville rallied to defeat Wittenberg 81-73 in the other Great Lakes game.

Ernie DiGregorio scored 28 points as NCAA-bound Providence closed out its regular season at 21-5 with a 72-61 victory over Brown and NIT-bound Fordham, led by Kenny Charles' 23 points, stopped Manhattan 91-84.

Rutgers routed Holy Cross 98-75. Vanderbilt clobbered Mississippi State 104-82. Alabama bombed Georgia 101-73 and Mississippi downed Auburn 89-83 in other action.

Billie and Chris Renew Rivalry

DALLAS (UPI)—Another renewal of the newborn rivalry between Billie Jean King and Chris Evert takes place today in the quarterfinals of the first $30,000 Maureen Connolly Brinker Tennis Tournament. But that match may just be the appetizer.

When Miss Evert became the overnight sensation at Forest Hills last year it was Mrs. King who finally took her out of the tournament in the semifinals.

And when the two met in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., last month Miss Evert blasted her opponent, 6-0, 6-1.

The winner of today's match, however, will probably meet Australian Evonne Goolagong in the semifinals on Saturday and that would be the match of the tournament.

The top-seeded Miss Goolagong, making her first appearance in the United States, pulled herself together after falling behind in the second set Thursday and downed fellow countrywoman Helen Gourlay, 6-3, 7-6. That put her in the quarterfinals today against eighth-seeded Wendy Overton.

Miss Evert got to the quarterfinals with a 6-0, 6-3 victory over Valerie Ziegenfuss and Mrs. King trounced Karen Krantzcke of Australia, 6-3, 6-4.

In the lower half of the bracket Australia's Leslie Hunt pulled off the big upset by downing second-seeded Rosemary Casals, 6-3, 3-6, 8-6 while Nancy Richey Gunter had a surprisingly easy time with Francois Durr of France, 6-2, 6-0.

Mrs. Gunter, who now has a relatively easy match to the finals, will meet Nell Truman in today's quarterfinals while Miss Hunt will meet Australian Kerry Melville.

Miss Evert said she did not think she would have a psychological advantage over Mrs. King, despite the thrashing she administered last month.

"She can't play any worse here than she did in Florida," Chris said of Billie Jean. "So it's got to be a much tougher match. She was doing bad in that match, and I was going good."

If Miss Evert and Miss Goolagong meet Saturday in the semifinals it would be the first match between the two queens apparent of the tennis world.

Nelson Burton Heading For 2nd Straight Title

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI)—Nelson Burton Jr. of St. Louis won all eight of his match games Thursday night in the $60,000 Buckeye Open here and looked today like a man who was on his way to winning a second straight Professional Bowlers Association tournament.

Burton, 29, winner just last week of the Ebonite Open at Miami, held a 178-pin advantage going into today's rounds which will decide which five go into Saturday's finals.

Burton picked up 1,822 pins

Thursday, and with 30 bonus pins for each win, he stood at 6,268 for the 26 games. Bobby Cooper of Houston, who moved from 12th to second by winning all eight of his match games and picking up 1,886 pins, had a 6,090 total.

Earl Anthony of Tacoma, Wash. was in third with a 6,026 total. He won six match games and lost two.

Fourth was Norm Meyers of St. Louis, with 5,897, and Les Schissler of Denver, fifth, at 5,854.

First prize in the tourney is $7,000.

Rangers Obtain Goyette Again

NEW YORK (UPI)—Phil Goyette, a 38-year old center with 17 years of experience in the National Hockey League, came out of retirement Thursday when he signed with the New York Rangers.

General Manager-coach Emile Francis of the Rangers said that Goyette's contract was purchased from the Buffalo Sabres last Sunday. Goyette had retired last January after scoring three goals and being credited with 21 assists in 38 games.

"Goyette's experience and overall ability will be a tremendous asset during the stretch run and playoffs," said Francis. "I consider him one of the best playmakers in the business and an expert on the power play."

Sickler's — Last Roundup

KINGSTON, Rich Amato, who surfaces as a basketball coach for the major post-season tournaments only, is leaving no stone unturned in his bid for the Hudson Valley Basketball Tournament Championship at Poughkeepsie this season.

Amato has signed up the entire first string team at Ulster Community; Larry Frazier and Wade Pittman, late of Newburgh Academy and Rockland Community, along with Ed Strong, former co-captain at St.

Peter's College, New Jersey and Larry Cheatum, a 6-5 operator out of the University of Tulsa.

"If I don't win it this time, I'll throw it in," says Amato of the 29th annual Poughkeepsie classic in which his team was eliminated by one point (99-98) by the Nyack team which went on to beat Felicello's of Marlborough for the title.

"We play Felicello's in the first round on March 20," Amato observed. "So we ought to know in a hurry just how good we are."

According to the form chart, Sickler's should be awfully good this time around and by natural progression should win it all, with a third place and second place in the last two years.

The UCCC players scheduled to play for Sickler's include Henry Nixon, Linnell Marshall, Jackie Knowles, the Region XV Tournament MVP; Nelson Marcelle, and Coleman Link. The Ulster squad will be coming fresh from the NJCAA Nationals in Hutchinson, Kansas.

If Sickler's get by the Pipers, one of the most tournament-tested teams in the Mid-Hudson area, they could, in fact, go all the way. The defending champion, Smith-White Realty of Rockland County, will be back in the eight-team field Don McKiernan, tournament director, describes as "one of the most exciting ever."

Other teams in the field include the Poughkeepsie Dutchmen, Pleasant Valley Tavern, DeFranco Dodge of Peekskill. Opening round games are slated Monday, March 22, and Wednesday, March 24, first game starting at 7:15 p.m.

Semi-finals are scheduled Monday, March 27, and the finals Wednesday, March 29. All games will be played at the Poughkeepsie YMCA in Eastman Park.

First round pairings: March 20—Hyde Park Inn vs. Pleasant Valley, 7:15 p.m.; Sickler's vs. Felicello's, 8:15 p.m.

March 22—Nite Cap Restaurant vs. The Dutchmen, 7:15 p.m.; Peekskill vs. Smith-White Realty, 8:15 p.m.

Home Cooking Boon to Mitchell

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—There's nothing like a little home cooking to bring out the best in a small town boy.

Ask Bobby Mitchell, the pro golfer from southside Virginia who was the leader going into today's second round of the $150,000 Citrus Open.

Mitchell, staying with friends here in Orlando this week, filled up on hot biscuits and ham gravy Thursday morning—then went out and shot a 6-under-par 66 into the teeth of a wind.

"Man, that Mitchell can really pack away the chow," his friend noted with a chuckle.

"He really goes for that Southern style home cooking," Blocker is behind.

Mitchell, posting six birdies and nary a bogey in a round that included a 70-foot putt and a gambling shot over a clump of high trees that capped a string of three straight birdies, finished the opening round one stroke ahead of Chris Blocker, the Texas strongman who now plays out of Jacksonville, Fla.

The 32-year-old Blocker, who has gained little recognition in his eight years on the tour, had to qualify this past Monday to get into the Citrus and his late-finishing 67 came as a surprise since he wasn't even on the leader board until nearly three hours after Mitchell finished.

The 29-year-old Mitchell is not much better known than Blocker. He's won a lot more money than Blocker the past few years but his only victory in more than six years on the tour was in last June's Cleveland Open.

Mitchell indicated that he didn't feel his over-the-tree shot was as much of a gamble as many seemed to think.

A Familiar Hole

"There's a hole back in Danville (Va.) just like this years ago," Mitchell insisted. "I must have practiced that shot almost every day for 14 years."

On the 13th hole, a dogleg right that parallels No. 14, Mitchell, deliberately put his tee shot into the No. 14 fairway and then lofted over the trees on a shortcut to the 15th green.

The most surprised man to hear about the shot appeared to be Jack Nicklaus, the pre-tournament favorite who shot a 70. "I never even thought about such a shot," said golf's all-time money champion. "I thought that was still out of bounds as it was a couple of years ago."

Two strokes behind Mitchell, and right on Blocker's heels, were five 68 shooters—including U.S. Open champ Lee Trevino who was about the only member of the massive 153-man field who didn't seem to mind Thursday's gusting winds.

Palmer Is Way Back

Others two strokes off the lead going into today's second round were Tommy Aaron, Jerry Abbott, Dale Douglass and Babe Hickey.

Arnold Palmer, the defending Citrus champion, was way back in a logjam for 41st place after an opening round 72.

'Junkie Priest' Speaks at Paltz Drug Workshop

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ Father Daniel Egan, the "Junkie Priest," made a plea for greater communication between parents and their children, and greater emphasis on inculcating a sense of responsibility in the young, as antidotes to drug abuse at the drug awareness workshop held in the New Paltz Middle School Thursday night.

The workshop was part of the drug education program in the New Paltz school system, and the workshop was chaired by Richard Stanulwich, the system's education coordinator.

Father Egan is the director of New Hope Manor, a drug rehabilitation center for women sponsored by the Graymoor Franciscan Friars, located in Garrison, New Hope Manor also has a reentry house located in Poughkeepsie, directed by Father Emil Tomaskovic.

The nickname "Junkie Priest" has been given Father Egan for his work among drug addicts, and his book about his experiences, entitled "The Junkie Priest," is now in its 12th printing.

The priest, slight, gray-haired, and intense, told the more than 125 who attended the workshop that until people viewed the drug problem as a "people problem," rather than a socio-economic, pharmacological, or criminal problem, real progress could not be made.

He said it was "tragic and painful" that today's children trust drugs more than they do their parents, and turn to drugs rather than their parents in time of trouble.

"The pushers are in this school," he said, "your own children are the pushers."

Father Egan brought along four young women to speak who were in the New Hope Manor program. They ranged in age from 15 to 18. Two of the women were from the Mid-Hudson area, and they reinforced the priest's warning that drugs were in New Paltz; two of the women had bought much of their drugs in New Paltz. One of the women had bought some of the now notorious Sopors in

New Paltz and used them with bad effects. Egan said another of the women was very hesitant about coming to New Paltz to speak, fearing she would run into some of the people she used to use drugs with.

They started young. One said she had started using drugs in the sixth grade, bringing gasps from the audience. Father Egan said when they opened New Hope Manor about a year ago, the average age of the women in the program was 25 or 26. He said it had now dropped to about 16, and there was a 12-year-old girl in the program.

Drugs had the same general effect on all the young women. They lost interest in their surroundings, in life, and became totally concerned with the search for more drugs. All of them said they were glad to be in New Hope Manor, and thought they could get their lives straightened out. One girl said she thought she had gotten into the program at an opportune moment to turn her life around.

"After all," she said, "I'm only 15."

Father Egan scored the "Chemical Age" we now live in, and blasted the media for promoting, especially through advertising, the notion that life's problems have easy solutions. "The kind of person who becomes a drug addict has never been taught that struggle is a part of life," said the priest.

"Life is supposed to be difficult."

He urged all parents to begin to talk to their children more, praising them when they did well, and condemning their mistakes but never the children themselves.

He said children had to be made to face reality early, and be given responsibility, or they would fall into the "comfort trap."

It's one step from the "comfort trap."

"Some problems have no easy answers," he said. "There is no easy way for a teenager to grow up. It hurts to grow up."

to turn to their parents for help.

Though located on the grounds of the Graymoor monastery, New Hope Manor is non-sectarian, said Father Egan. The project does not accept referrals. To enter the program, a female drug addict must ask for entrance personally, and must get "clean" on her own before entering.

New York State matches 50 per cent of whatever funds the Franciscans raise.

The priest said when the program first started it had no reentry house, and "we lost our first six girls". They put in the reentry house, and since then have had a success ratio of nine for nine, he said.

Results of Recent Evaluation Given by Rhinebeck School Board

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK Officials of the Rhinebeck Central School District Thursday night explained for the first time to the public the results of an evaluation undertaken last May of the elementary schools.

The indicators of quality method was used, with teachers of other school districts ranging from Ontario westward to Binghamton included in the evaluative process.

When the 90 minute meeting was just about over a voice asked, "How did we rate in comparison in specific areas? Are we poor, good, or just mediocre?"

The question, despite a superfluity of statistical analysis, remained unanswered because of several qualifying statements made during the explanation.

Board President Hans Boehm used an old one-liner to explain his hesitancy to evaluate the evaluation. "How's your wife? Compared to what?"

He claimed that the comparison base used was the top one-third of schools in the nation, almost all suburban and relatively wealthy. There were no southern schools or ghetto schools in the base for comparison.

Of this so-called "top third" Rhinebeck ranked in the "bottom third."

What did the test purport to measure? It did not measure subject matter or results of standardized tests or anything concrete. It did measure the atmosphere of the classroom, the process of teaching, and four generalized "indicators of quality."

These were broken up into four positive areas: creativity, individualization, interpersonal regard, and group activity.

There were 51 points on the checklist for each classroom, divided evenly among three categories: teacher evaluation, pupil evaluation, and teacher-pupil evaluation.

And the elementary system was broken up into kindergarten through second grade and third through sixth grades.

Generally speaking, the results in the K-2 were more satisfying than 3-6. Of the K-2, Boehm said they were remarked to be "wholesome" and "homogeneous."

Of the 16 classrooms involved, ten ranked below the mean and six ranked above in that nebulous "top third."

Of the 3-6 Boehm remarked, "not quite that good." There were 14 below the mean and ten above, he added.

It was the general consensus of both evaluators and those evaluated that the test was biased against traditional teaching methods, or a more formalized "I'm the teacher, you're the student" type of atmosphere.

Intercommunication of ideas was stressed, and seen as a very positive aspect. Specific points had to be either extremely positive or extremely negative in order to be marked.

In K-2, Rhinebeck scored well above the norm in creativity. The higher the grade, the worse the system looked and creativity was the lowest category in the 3-6.

What of the future?

Elementary school principal William Kane said that interclassroom analysis by teachers and teacher inspection will be the major efforts to improve.

Kingston High Drug Council Sets Series

KINGSTON The KHS Drug Council has been involved in the study and discussion of amphetamines for the past several months. It has also instituted a program seeking the cooperation of local doctors in limiting prescriptions of amphetamines only for the treatment of narcolepsy and hyperkinesia. Narcolepsy is a disease where the afflicted continually falls asleep. Amphetamines (stimulants) correct the imbalance. Hyperkinesia is a disease of hyperactivity, usually found in children. Medical science is not exactly sure why but amphetamines, which are stimulants, seem to control the disease. Richard Sheridan, health coordinator of the Kingston Schools consolidated district, said that the program of administering amphetamines for only narcolepsy and hyperkinesia has been endorsed by the American Medical Association. "Eight billion amphetamines are manufactured in this country every year," Sheridan said, "and four to five billion of them find their way to the illicit market." Kingston High School students associated with the Drug Council will be distributing invitations at area shopping plazas this weekend to the program on amphetamines. Invitations have already been sent out to doctors, nurses and members of the Kingston Schools Consolidated District Board of Education.

Consumer Advocate Issues Mail Order Warning

KINGSTON should proceed with caution in ordering merchandise or services by mail from unknown mail order merchants.

David L. Ordway, "ombudsman" for the postal system, said complaints from customers indicate that such orders can turn out to be unsatisfactory transactions.

"Most mail order dealers are reliable merchants who offer good products and services and stand behind them," Ordway said. "But we have received many reports from postal customers telling us of orders placed by mail with firms months ago and they have received nothing since but a note acknowledging their order. In these instances, checks covering the orders were cashed immediately, but merchandise may not come for many more weeks or months, if at all."

Ordway suggested that postal customers would be well-advised to determine the reliability of unfamiliar firms before sending substantial sums of money. Reliability frequently can be determined by inquiries to the Better Business Bureau, Chamber of Commerce or state and local consumer protection offices. Ordway said his office stands ready to assist postal customers with any mail problem which cannot be resolved at their local post office. Kingston Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk also announced that there is a Publication 17, Your Federal Income Tax, 1972 Edition, to help individuals file their income tax. The Publication can be purchased for 75 cents at all First and Second Class Post Offices.

Seeking Financial Aid

RED HOOK

Donald C. Lanco, president of Red Hook Recreation Park, will give a presentation before

the Dutchess County Youth

Board March 14 seeking financial assistance for the Rec.

Park.

According to Lanco, the Rec.

Park received funds from the Youth Board two years ago, but assistance was cut back last year and the Rec. Park was left out.

County Representative

Madison Sipperley Jr. has gone on record as favoring assistance from the county to the Red outdoor recreational facility available to many people in northern Dutchess County, boasting an olympic sized outdoor swimming pool which has been open to the public morning during the summer and restricted to members af-

Recommendations of this

among other, proposals before the Youth Board will follow the presentations and some decision may be reached at that time.

John Wintenburg, deputy sheriff and director of Sheriff's Juvenile Aid Bureau and the sheriff's representative on the Youth Board, will give a report on the work of his department.

Peace Group

Sets Session

NEW PALTZ

The Ulster County Peace

Committee will sponsor a public address and formal discussion

4 p.m. Sunday at the educational hall of the New

Paltz Reformed Church.

Guest speaker will be Dr.

Channing Liem, former ambassador for South Korea to the United Nations. His topic will be Return to Greatness in light of President Richard M. Nixon's visit to China.

In discussing the topic Dr.

Liem said that "peace is neither an appeasement nor an imposition of one nation's will on others by force. Peace is an eternal quest for justice, understanding and friendly coexistence. It is therefore not a political issue. It is a human, moral, religious and political issue. To understand this and to seek to promote such is a

Return to Greatness."

The meeting is open to the public. The education hall is on Huguenot Street across from the main church building.

Your Horoscope

Saturday, March 11

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Now you find you have all sorts of new, imaginative and inventive ways of putting in effect the practical plans you made the past two days. But they require zip and zest in order to make them saleable to the general public, or other outlets.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You find that good pals have the right ideas now for your advancement, so be sure you listen to them. Do some entertaining of close ties and gain their cooperation. Make this a most productive day, p.m.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) No better day than this to contact bigwig who can aid you with your business endeavors and state your aims in a forthright manner. Get into that civic work you like and are so capable at handling. Be firm.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can now get into that new outlet that has long appealed to you, with fine results. You have to be more open-minded if you want the respect of experts. Evening should be spent quietly at home.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan some new method by which to get all your responsibilities handled with greater ease and efficiency. Make the right impression on your attachment. You have a fine romantic manner—use it.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Know what your true position is with associates so you can make joint projects work out more successfully in the future. Do not bear a grudge toward one who has been acting in a strange manner. Get at the cause of things.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can get at all those tasks ahead of you early in the day so you can be out with congenials later for the fun you like. Take exercise that raises your vitality. Do not dress fine, provided you teach early to do so in an orthodox manner, otherwise big troubles result. There is a very vivid imagination here, too, which coupled with a fine education, can make for a most interesting and successful life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

DON'T TAKE CHANCES; YOU CAN'T READ YOUR OWN OBITUARY

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

DESIGNING SISTER: (Q) My sister is a year older than I and says I'm stupid and the boys I go with are stupid. But she steals them from me. She has stolen several. A boy usually lasts me about a month, maybe two, and then he's hers.

If he calls when I'm gone and she's home I'm dead. She answers the phone and puts on a dumb little high-pitched Northern accent. The next time I see that boy, he's probably coming to pick her up.

I love her, but I don't love her long if she keeps stealing my boy friends. What can I do?—Little Sister, Age 16, in Alabama.

(A) No one can steal a boy from a girl if he seriously cares for her.

No girl who seriously cares for one boy will try to steal another girl's boys wholesale.

This goes for sisters as well as just friends.

When you find your boy and your sister finds hers, this charade will stop. For your sake, I hope it is soon.

PERSPIRATION: (Q) I have a perspiration problem. It smells bad. I went to two doctors about it and they told me exactly nothing.

My boy friend doesn't mind it, and we plan to get married in a year or two. But other people do. They say things. I had a job at school but quit because the boss threw hints at me about my odor.

I bathe three times a day most days—sometimes four—and never wear anything twice. So it isn't uncleanness.

Please tell me how I can conquer my problem.—Unhappy in Michigan.

(A) You may not be able to conquer it. But you can tame it into something you can live with.

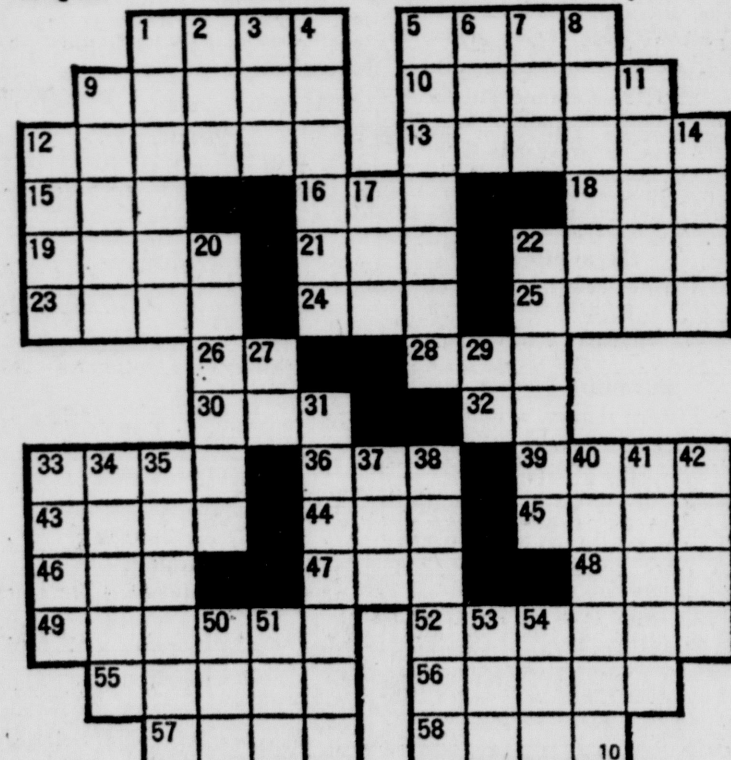

Each time you bathe use a deodorant. Twice a day use an antiperspirant. Wear blouses or shirts or dresses with sleeves. Under the sleeves wear underarm shields (you can get them at your department store.)

With this routine your perspiration should be under control. And you should be able to get by with fewer baths—maybe just one a day.

Some Upcoming TV Shows

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notes to watch television by: The headliners: Bing Crosby, Melba Moore and Tim Conway are the guests on Flap Wilson's high-rated NBC-TV series next Thursday... Henry Fonda and Deborah Kerr will be cohosts of ABC-TV's live two-hour telecast of Broadway's Tony Awards April 23, and the show will offer highlights from the careers of Ethel Merman, Richard Rodgers and Harold Prince, as performed by famous stars of the theater.

William Saroyan visits NBC-TV's "Today" program next Thursday to discuss his book "Places Where I've Done Time," which deals with 68 key locations in his life... Same network's "Comment!" series this Sunday is scheduled to feature composer Aaron Copland, publisher William Loeb, diplomat Averell Harriman and labor leader Cesar Chavez.

Edwin Newman is the host of "Comment!" and an excellent all-around swingman in the news and public affairs field whose programs have included the finest interview series in commercial television, "Speak- ing Freely" ... and this week, Newman was presented with France's Insignia of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor by the French ambassador to the United States, Charles Lucet, who cited:

"The objectivity, fine judgment and wit which have characterized Mr. Newman's news presentations, and his many contributions to the development of television as a news and cultural medium" ...

Actress Patricia Neal, a stroke victim who courageously overcame her affliction, will narrate ABC-TV's April 27 documentary "Life, Death and the American Woman," which deals with a wide range of medical conditions affecting females... NBC President Julian Goodman, in a speech prepared for delivery Thursday night to the International Radio and Television Society in New York, said his network plans to petition the Federal Communications Commission to revoke the ruling that cut back on prime time for all the commercial networks, limiting them to three hours nightly in hopes of encouraging local and independent operators.

Said Goodman: "We believe that the sum total of all the experience of the public, the stations, the networks and the program producers demonstrates that the theory of the rule was unrealistic and the results have been absurd" ... The man is right... the hoped-for cultural blossoming never took place, which could have been predicted by anyone remotely familiar with the outlook of television entrepreneurs... And, with rare exception, little noteworthy programming has emerged from the naive cutback which also resulted in a reduction of day after it takes place.

TWA Negotiated, But Didn't Pay

By United Press International
TWA confirmed Thursday night that it had been negotiating with an extortionist over a $2 million demand to reveal where bombs allegedly had been planted on its jetliners, but the company's president said no ransom had been paid and he believed the threat had "run its course."

Earlier in the day President Nixon ordered all airlines to take mandatory security measures to prevent explosives or weapons from being placed aboard aircraft.

Meanwhile a number of the airline that contact of some kind had been made with the unidentified extortionist. Although sources said Tuesday night that such negotiations were in progress, as late as Wednesday, TWA officials refused to confirm or deny that such talks were going on.

In Grand Rapids, Mich., FBI Thursday arrested John Foster, 40, Benton Harbor, on charges he telephoned TWA today demanding $25,000 to reveal where two bombs were hidden. The FBI would release no other details and would not say whether he was suspected of being the same person involved in the earlier extortion attempt.

One TWA plane was damaged by a bomb while grounded at an airport in Las Vegas Wednesday morning about twelve hours after a trained German Shepherd dog had sniffed out a bomb in the cockpit of a TWA plane in New York. That bomb was defused and set to explode.

As a result of the Las Vegas explosion TWA ordered a second worldwide search of all aircraft; tighten baggage checking, and improve the security of cargo and baggage loading operations.

Around the country, bomb threat hoaxes led to additional delays as authorities made futile searches of airliners awaiting takeoff.

New Offensive Move by South Vietnamese

SAIGON (UPI)—A 10,000-man South Vietnamese task force began a new offensive into eastern Cambodia Thursday as part of a lengthy "spoiling operation" to wipe out Communist sanctuaries, military sources said today.

South Vietnamese officials in Saigon said they had no information on the operation. The military sources said the mechanics of the offensive were being kept secret for security reasons.

The drive was described as a "spoiling operation" (which) will continue off and on for a comparatively lengthy period. It includes armored cavalry, Rangers, infantry and air force units. The air war continued at a heavy pace. U.S. Air Force Phantom F-4s made two "protective reaction" strafing raids on Communist anti-aircraft sites in North Vietnam and the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and B-52 bombers made five strikes over the South Vietnamese Central Highlands.

In addition, South Vietnamese military sources said their planes destroyed two tanks and attacked one other.

In ground action, South Vietnamese troops killed 30 Communists in scattered battles, including one firefight 12 miles northwest of Hue which left seven Communists dead.

South Vietnamese losses in the battle included three killed and six wounded.

The aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk arrived on Yankee Station off the Vietnamese coast Wednesday, the Pentagon said.

Harrisburg Defense Links Witness to Extortion

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—The Harrisburg Seven defense, depicting informer Boyd F. Douglas as a chain liar of epic stature, has promised to produce testimony that he infiltrated the Catholic Left antiwar movement with an eye to extorting money from its donors.

Defense attorney Terry F. Lenzner told Federal Judge R. Dixon Herman Thursday that he had subpoenaed a witness who would testify Douglas suggested to another prison inmate the idea of getting "money out of the Catholic movement through extortion."

—Q. So only one lie there?
—A. Yes.
Douglas said he lied about getting machine gun wounds in Vietnam, where he had never been, and about draft board action, which he had never taken. He said he lied in a letter to Joyce Fredericks, a student, that said:

"I am totally committed to the movement. I have given my life to the struggle. If I lose my life and freedom in the struggle, well then, that's the way it will have to be... my function in the movement is organization after people are definitely committed to some type of civil disobedience."

—The whole letter is a lie," Douglas admitted. That included the part asking her to come away with him: "I've got a wealthy brother in Philly paying for a month's vacation, plus a new car."

Grand Juries Label as Fiction 'Autobiography' on Hughes

NEW YORK (UPI)—When McGraw-Hill shook the book world Dec. 7 with the announcement it was publishing an autobiography of Howard Hughes by Clifford Irving, it quoted the billionaire as writing in a letter, "Call this autobiography. Call it my memoirs. Call it what you please."

Two grand juries Thursday called it a fraud strung together in Caribbean beaches and public libraries, the product of research and "imaginings" compiled in the belief the publicity-abhorring industrialist was either deceased or not of sufficient mental or physical capacity to denounce it.

Irving, 41, a tall, slim author who had written a book on art forgery, and his striking blonde wife Edith, 36, were indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy and mail fraud.

The two, together with researcher Richard Suskind, 46, also were named in a 16-charge New York County indictment which alleged conspiracy, grand larceny and possession of forged instruments. Irving and Suskind also were charged with perjury. Suskind was named a co-conspirator, but not a defendant, in the federal indictment.

The grand jury alleged that the original letter purportedly from Hughes was written by Irving to lure McGraw-Hill into believing the reclusive billionaire was giving his approval to the manuscript.

—A. It's possible—Yes.

—A. No, Nancy Williams did have red hair.

Lenzner's cross-examination took Douglas, a two-time convict, through a recital that made lying seem a way of life. —to girl friends, professors at Bucknell University, the activists he was conning, and the FBI agents he was informing.

Douglas, who was allowed out of Lewisburg prison to attend classes at Bucknell by day, was pictured by Lenzner's question as a lying romantic to the girls on campus and an agent provocateur to the antiwar activists in prison and out.
